

Global Competition Review and the Hong Kong Competition Association invite you to the GCR Live East Asia Summit

Programme

Chairs: Stephen Crosswell, Baker McKenzie and Sai Ree Yun, Yulchon

Session one: The sharing economy: whose version of a level playing field do we promote? This panel will explore the role for antitrust in disruptive innovative businesses.

Session two: Information exchange: what do businesses need, and what can they do? This panel will look at how many competition laws restrict the acquisition and disclosure of such information.

Session three: Joint ventures and strategic alliances: should they be treated like mergers or as impermissible competitor coordination? Amongst other things, the panel is expected to explore how to treat competitor collaborations that have procompetitive upsides but also antitrust risks.

Session four: Leveraging success from one market to another: normal business practice, or anti-competitive? Panellists will discuss if leverage should be prohibited, if leverage is efficient and/or good for consumers and more.
